

D_Radical or not

Radical quotes

The quotes are handed out without the information of who said them or in which context they were said.

The learners' task is to put them on a barometer and decide how radical they are on a scale from 0% to 100% radical. Only then, they are given the information of whose quotes they are.

The quotes are also used as the title of the opinion essay at the end of the learning unit.

If Obama wanted to make radical changes to America's health long-term, all he has to do is treble the price of sugar and salt.
